Rutgers Climate Symposium 2020

Public Universities and Transformative Climate Action for a Just Recovery

Friday October 23, 2020
11:00 AM EDT

Featuring

Rosina Bierbaum, University of Michigan and University of Maryland
Stephen Gavazzi, The Ohio State University
Lisa Graumlich, University of Washington
Jeanne Herb, Rutgers University
Kevin Lyons, Rutgers University
Joel Rogers, University of Wisconsin

The Rutgers Climate Symposium invites students, faculty and staff from academic and research institutions throughout the US, Canada and Mexico, as well as members of the public, to this year's virtual symposium. Plenary talks will explore the role of public universities in transformative climate action for a just recovery.

The symposium is free but registration is required.
Complete details available at https://ruclimatesymposium2020.weebly.com/

Rutgers Climate Symposium is made possible through the generous support of the Frank Sposato Memorial Endowment

RUTGERS
Climate Institute